As a Senior digital producer at KQED Public Media, I hired Bart Dority to design the animated components of three cooking show websites I was designing for KQED TV. Two of the websites featured the world-renowned chef Jacques Pépin and the third showcased local Bay Area chef celebrity Joanne Weir. Bart's assignment was to take specific visual components of the site and make them come alive. He listened to my vision and not only created what I imagined but embellished on the ideas and made the animations even better. I have to say Bart is one of the best people I have ever worked with, both technically and personally. He is highly creative and simultaneously collaborative and responsible. My experience was we were creative partners designing something special and unique and he was as equally invested in the project as I was. I had fun working with Bart and he is a kind, considerate and extremely talented person. I highly recommend hiring Bart Dority for any digital projects, he is reliable, has good time management skills, and is a pleasure to work with.

It's rare that we come across such an amazing and talented person who is always willing to learn new tech stack and help others grow. I had the pleasure of working with Bart at UC Berkeley Bootcamp. Bart is always known for his inquisitive thoughts and questions during the class. His questions were always an eye-opener. He has an amazing design and UI skills. Not just front-end but his reasoning and data visualization capabilities also make him a perfect backend developer. I am glad I got to work with Bart in our Shoppr Project and would not hesitate to work with him again. I definitely recommend Bart as a software engineer. He is an asset to the team. Thanks, Bart for all your contributions - it was a pleasure working with you.

I had the honor of working with Bart on our first project at UC Berkeley Coding Bootcamp. He is an excellent developer who was the heart and soul of our team. He was always happy to take the time assist and explain concepts to the group. His code was always concise and very readable for others. He was a great collaborator and always brought new insights to the table. He is an excellent developer and a great mentor to our team. He is able to quickly grasp new technologies and convey them to others in more palpable terms. I cannot recommend Bart enough. He is an all around great developer who would be a great asset to any development team.

Bart was a team member that I would instantly pick to work with again. He went above and beyond our boot camp curriculum and introduced new knowledge to our teammates. Bart was our go-to guy if we had any bugs in our code that we couldn't figure out. It was a pleasure working on a group project with him.
